OLD BATTLE GROUND

Since Earliest History Men Have Fought in the Alps.

Two Thousand Years Ago Armies
Traversed the Region That Is Now the Scene of Austrian-Italian Struggle.

If the rugged peaks of the Alps could tell their story, there would be many a thrilling and warlike incident to relate; but none so strange as the scenes which are being enacted today between the Austrians and the Italians in these mountainous regions. The Italians are absolutely at home in the mountains, and the Austrians are using every invention of science to counteract this advantage. All the parapets on the steep roads, where summer tourists were wont to motor, have been demolished, and beautiful pine forests have been swept away so that nothing shall obstruct the artillery. Large areas have been mined, and, by pressing a button, the Austrians can hurl an avalanche of rocks and boulders on to the heads of the advancing Italians or blow up the roads beneath their feet.

From the Cottian chain, marking the boundary of France in the west, to the Carnic and Julian Alps, north and east of the Adriatic in Austria, there are literally a thousand passes and routes of more or less note, nearly all traversed by practicable roads, and some shortened by railway tunnels. Over these roads armies marched to battle over 2,000 years ago.

Mont Cenis pass may have been Hannibal's route when, in the year 218 B. C., the Carthaginian conqueror invaded Italy with a large army, half of which he lost amidst the Alpine snows.

The conquest of some Alpine tribes by Augustus; the desultory warfare of Teutonic and Frankish hordes in the fifth and sixth centuries; and the unceasing, sanguinary strife of Swiss "confederates" and Austrians, which lasted from the breaking up of the Carolingian empire in the tenth and eleventh centuries until the crystallization of the Helvetic republic by Napoleon Bonaparte's act of mediation in 1803—all these fill the chronicles and make nearly every practicable foot of Swiss territory heroic ground.

When Napoleon entered Italy, he crossed the Alps with an army of 40,000 by the Great St. Bernard pass, May 15-21, 1800. Later, he constructed the great military road over the Simplon pass, from Brieg, in Switzerland, to Domodossola, in Italy, and thence to Milan.

MEANT TO FOIL PICKPOCKET

Novel Device Gives an Alarm When One's Purse or Pocketbook Is Tampered With.

This device is designed to sound an alarm when the purse or pocketbook is withdrawn from the pocket. When the purse is in position in the pocket it bears against a tongue spring. When the purse is removed the resulting movement of the spring actuates a mechanism that causes a sort of hammer to strike a sounding plate.—Scientific American.

May Be Valuable Discovery.

It has been ascertained that removing the spleen from mice makes them much less susceptible to tuberculosis. Though the explanation is not yet clear, a theory has been put forward that this is due to a substance called tuberculo-splenatin, which possibly has some affinity for the tuberculosis germ. Such is the substance of a paper in the Journal of Experimental Medicine, issued by the Rockefeller Institute for medical research, and the implication in the findings of Dr. Paul A. Lewis and Dr. Arthur Georges Margot of the Henry Phipps Institute of the University of Pennsylvania. The two investigators suggest the name tuberculo-splenatin for the new substance as "suggesting merely its origin and its apparent relationship to tuberculosis." Hardly anything is yet known of the properties of tuberculo-splenatin.

Change in Farming Methods.

The most characteristic feature of the Swiss agricultural industry since the outbreak of the war, is the inclination in all parts of the country to a more diversified cultivation of the land, and the raising of more grains and vegetables instead of the one-sided systems obtaining heretofore of hay, live stock, dairying and cheese making or of grapes and other fruits.

THE WAY OF IT.

"The pretty chorus girls get all the good jobs and catch the millionaires. But what's doing for the poor chorus man?"

"Well I guess it is a case of natural affinity that all the plums should fall to the peaches."

HE'S EXPECTED.

"Whenever you hear someone referred to as a 'determined little woman,' you know what to expect."

"Sure. And if there's anybody on earth I'm sorry for, it's a henpecked husband."

STRAINING PATRIOTISM.

Teacher—Billy, why do you write today all together as one word?

Billy—'Cause, Miss Sally, I ain't got no use fer de hyphen.

A POETIC CROPPER.

Poet—There is an everlasting wall between my soul and silence.

Friend—I know. It's that darned back fence caterwaul.

EMPTY HEADED.

Sappy—They say that a man is as he thinks, you know.

Smart—Sappy, it's a wonder you're visible.

OMINOUS.

Actor—Sir, I must say there is much finish about my work.

Manager—I don't doubt it. I can see yours now.
